We love volunteers and are looking for some talented bakers to donate some cakes or cupcakes for the Waldorf Cake Walk, back again this year! There are lots of ways to get involved, but don't forget to sign up today:

Registration is now open on our website: stridesforstars.denverwaldorf.org

Join in the fun!

- Dance around the maypole
- Get your face painted
- Count your strides in the Walk-a-thon
- Run in the 5K
- Bring a blanket and enjoy a Spring picnic
- Win a tasty treat in the Waldorf Cake Walk

SUMMER CAMP @ DWS

Join us for a Waldorf-inspired Summer Camp experience for children ages 3-1/2 through rising 6th Graders

Download a registration & information packet here >>

This year, DWS Summer Enrichment Camp is better than ever! Thanks to parent feedback, we've added separate programs for lower and upper grades camps, field trips, and exciting new workshops to intrigue and delight your kids:

Early Childhood Program: 3-1/2 to 6 year olds

Lower Grades Camp: rising 1st through 3rd Graders

Upper Grades Camp: rising 4th through 6th Graders

Each week the children will explore a different theme. For the early childhood aged children the themes are woven into the rhythm of the day through story, circle, and simple crafts and games. The grades children experience these themes as workshops including subjects such as circus arts, urban farming, sports, games and handwork. All full day grades campers will make daily trips to the local pool in the afternoons and the upper grades will have field trips to some of Denver's best sites and natural wonders of the foothills.

Camp Dates:

Week 1: June 9-June 13

Week 2: June 16-June 20

Week 3: June 23-June 27

Week 4: June 30-July 3

(4-Day week due to July 4th holiday)

Week 5 : July 7-July 11

Week 6: July 14-July 18

Week 7: July 21-July 25

Week 8: July 28-Aug 1

Camp Hours:

Full day = 8:30 am - 4:30 pm

Half day = 8:30 am - 12:30 pm

SENIOR PRESENTATIONS:

STEPPING OUT OF THE COMFORT ZONE

By Yasmin Johnson '14

Senior project presentations are approaching rapidly for the graduating class of 2014. After spending the majority - if not all - of the year working on our projects, we are extremely excited to share our end product with the community.

Senior projects are meant to challenge and inspire the students, taking us out of our comfort zones and bringing on new challenges.

Students choose their diverse projects at either the end of Junior year, or the beginning of Senior year.

This year, the projects range from CrossFit to motorcycle restoration to film making and many others.

Picking a project is a challenge in itself. With almost no limitations, we are forced to pick a project that is original, interesting, and meaningful. I know I went through many, many ideas, including stand-up comedy and learning to fly a helicopter. Once a Senior picks a project and finds a mentor to provide guidance and feedback, the real work begins.

One of the biggest challenges that we face is planning and executing the work ourselves. For example, my project is film making, therefore I am entirely on my own schedule and have to find the resources and motivation to work by myself. There are vague guidelines for how a project must be completed, and although 80 hours of work on the project are required, most students exceed that within a few months.

As the year goes on, we all face our different obstacles and struggle to overcome them. The work and stress of the projects follow us around constantly. We spend endless hours worrying and complaining about our projects, but what it all comes down to is the presentation, when we finally are able to tell our stories.

For the audience, listening to the presentations is really a chance to learn about what our school's Seniors are capable of doing. Each presentation gives a unique insight into the life of that individual student, a chance to hear them talk about their interests and how they work in the world without the structure of school.

I personally believe that the success of a project is not determined by how perfect or beautiful one's finished product is. A successful project is when you have overcome unexpected challenges. It is successful when you constantly jump over obstacles and work diligently to do so. Most of all, a successful project is when you love and are proud of your work.

Senior Project Presentations for the Class of 2014

Thursday & Friday, May 15-16 at 7 pm.

We hope that everyone in our community will attend to support our Seniors as they reach this important milestone in their education at The Denver Waldorf School!

FAREWELL TO MISS JESSICA TAMAYO

Morning Glory Lead Assistant Jessica Tamayo will not be returning to The Denver Waldorf School next year. She is going on to follow her heart and get more training to work with children individually in a therapeutic setting.

She will be with Morning Glory for the rest of this school year. The students will surely treasure this time with her. Please join all of us at DWS in wishing Jessie the best in her future endeavors!

YOUTH PHOTO EXHIBITION COMES TO DWS

Illuminate the Darkness, a youth-led photo exhibition, will travel to The Denver Waldorf School in early April in an effort to reduce the stigma related to discussing mental health and mental illness. According to the National Alliance on Mental Illness, one in five children and teens have an identifiable mental illness that causes them difficulty either at school or at home. Out of the 4 million youth with mental illnesses, only 20% receive mental health services. The Youth Action Board at Children's Hospital Colorado's Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences wants to bring mental health and mental illness to the forefront.

The Youth Action Board is made up of 13 sixteen and seventeen year olds from seven area high schools. Illuminate the Darkness was the first project of the Youth Action Board and the intent was to provide youth's perspective and insights into mental health at Children's Hospital and beyond. Each teen chose one photo and participated in a writing exercise to provide additional context and reflection to complement their photo. The youth selected excerpts from their writing and then arranged the photos into a story.

Please visit the exhibition in the High School and commit to talking with at least one person about your experience to help illuminate the darkness.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINTMAKING

JOB OPENINGS AT DWS 2014-15

Preschool-Kindergarten Lead Assistant/Apprentice Position

The Denver Waldorf School (DWS) is looking for a Preschool-Kindergarten Lead Assistant, beginning August 2014. The ideal candidate for this position will have a strong love of working with young children, Waldorf Early Childhood training and/or experience in a Waldorf Early Childhood program, group leader or director qualifications, along with the ability to work well in a collegial setting. As our preschool-kindergarten program is often a parent's first introduction to Waldorf education, the ability to communicate clearly and regularly with parents is an essential skill for this position. Handwork skills are also necessary.

The Lead Assistant works closely with the Lead Teacher, meeting daily to check in and discuss any issues regarding the Kindergarten and the children. The Lead Assistant has the opportunity to step in and lead the class when the Lead Teacher is absent. In addition, this teacher assists with circle-time, story-time, directing play when necessary, snack preparation, the care of the environment/classroom, and seasonal crafts projects.

Responsibilities of the lead assistant also include interacting closely with the group of children, nurturing and tending the domestic and artistic life of the classroom, sharing in the care of the greater kindergarten environment, and supporting and providing an atmosphere of security, warmth and joy. Attendance at faculty meetings, parent evenings and Kindergarten special events are required. The week prior to the first day of school, along with the week following the end of each school year, are salaried work weeks.

The Lead Assistant is also expected to work outside of classroom hours in the preparation of children's gifts and festivals. If the candidate is being considered for our apprenticeship program, he or she would need to be enrolled in, or have completed, a WECAN- recognized Waldorf Early Childhood training. A syllabus outlining the apprenticeship program is available upon request.

High School Girls Volleyball Coach

The coach will be responsible for day-to-day activities with the student athletes through the duration of the contract (start and finish dates based upon schedule and team activities). This includes providing practice plans and managing practices/games throughout the season. The coach will provide leadership for student athletes while developing skills and fundamentals. The coach will be willing to participate in team camps and other team building activities and in any coaching development course/classes if asked by the school. Games are held at various locations. Coaches will provide own transportation.

Experience playing high school and college volleyball is required. Prior had coaching experience at club or high school level is preferred. Motor Vehicle Record must meet school safety standards. Must pass criminal background check.

How to Apply:

If you are interested in either of these job opportunities, please send your resume with contact information for three personal references to the Personnel Committee, The Denver Waldorf School, 940 Fillmore Street, Denver, CO 80206 or e-mail to admin@denverwaldorf.org.

ANTHROPOSOPHY NOTES

Summer Course Lodging Needed for Waldorf Teachers

This summer, Nancy Blanning, Dr. Adam Blanning, Laurie Clark and other guest teachers will offer an advanced course for Waldorf early childhood teachers. Teachers will travel to Denver from all parts of the country to attend this course. We are looking for families who would be willing to host an early childhood teacher for this course.

The course dates are: Sunday, July 6th through Friday, July 11th. The teachers will pay their host $25 per night for a bedroom space and $10 per night for a sleeping bag space. If you are interested in housing a teacher, please contact Laurie Clark at laurieclark525@comcast.net. Many thanks for your consideration!

New Waldorf Education Resource Website

Sound Circle Center for Arts and Anthroposophy (SCC), a Seattle-based regional Waldorf training center and full Member Institute in AWSNA, has launched a new online resource to promote connection, interaction and collaboration among leaders in schools and organizations inspired by Rudolf Steiner, worldwide.

Aptly named LeadTogether, this new website offers individuals who work in schools and other organizations not only a collection of resources and a monthly newsletter focused on relevant issues of leadership, governance and school organization, but peer-to-peer forums to help people connect, interact and collaborate with each other.

Biodynamically-grown whole wheat flour is now available at Whole Foods Markets. Look for Isis Biodynamic at your local store.

ANTHROPOSOPHY NOTES

What is power? When we think about the word 'power' many possibilities come to mind—energy, resources, authority, the ability to act in a way that demonstrates faculty or capacity. Power, is often associated with force. Is there a difference between personal and collective power? How do we draw upon power to stand up for our ideals and values? How do we give or take power in our relationships—whether in school, family, community, or at work?

April 4 - 6

9:00am: Orland Bishop

2:00pm: Kiara Nagel and special guests

We open the theme of the conference with this simple question to look at all the ways in which we understand power and how we relate to it.

What is Power?

Friday, April 4-Sunday, April 6, 2014

Orland Bishop is the founder and director of ShadeTree Multicultural Foundation in Los Angeles, where he has pioneered approaches to urban truces and mentors at-risk youth that combine new ideas with traditional ways of knowledge. ShadeTree serves as an intentional community of mentors, elders, teachers, artists, healers, and advocates for the healthy development of children and youth. Orland's work in healing and human development is framed by an extensive study of medicine, naturopathy, psychology, and indigenous cosmologies, primarily those of South and West Africa.

Kiara Nagel delivers training, consulting, and coordination services to foster collaboration and support equitable community development. She is an associate at the Design Studio for Social Intervention, and facilitates strategy work with the Interaction Institute for Social Change. Her work stems from an exploration of the historical patterns of development and forced displacement and she works to provide space for those most directly affected to be engaged in decision-making about how their places can be shaped, understood and represented.

Keynote Talk: Blessings of Change: Rites of Passage in the 21st Century

In our fast-paced electronic culture, it's easy for adults to overlook life-giving opportunities to bless the passages and transitions of our children's lives. However, many of us yearn for meaningful rites of passage to assimilate change, clarify a healthy sense of identity, heal relational wounds, and foster intimate family relationships. In this keynote talk, Shea encourages parents and caregivers to celebrate developmental rites of passage and life transitions so as to honor and heal the past, live joyfully in the present, and approach the future with courage and confidence.

SHEA DARIAN is a writer and multi-faith spiritual director. She has served as a parent educator for over twenty years—inspiring parents, grandparents and caregivers to transform our often busy, chaotic twenty-first century lives with a daily measure of joy, peace, and intimacy. Shea's award-winning books include Sanctuaries of Childhood: Nurturing a Child's Spiritual Life, and Living Passages: Celebrating Rites of Passage from Birth to Adulthood. Her book, Seven Times the Sun: Guiding Your Child Through the Rhythms of the Day, has been a favorite of the Waldorf schooling community for the past twenty years (see www.gileadpress.net).

Workshop: Living Passages for the Whole Family

With such full, hectic lives, how do young people assimilate the myriad cultural and developmental changes they face? When and how do they learn to live fully into each new age and stage of their growth and development? Through presentation, conversation, story, poetry, song, and simple ritual, this workshop serves an opportunity to explore myriad possibilities for creating meaningful rites of passage with young people. We will consider such life passages as weaning, losing a first tooth, the nine-year change, puberty, dating, driving, death and leaving home, among others. Participants will explore myriad approaches to create meaningful rites of passage with family members of all ages.

CELTIC TREASURES

A special matinee for children of all ages!
at the Nomad Theatre, 1410 Quince, Boulder
Saturday April 5; 11.00am

As part of its 2014 Spring tour, the SCE Ensemble offers a chance for children, parents and the wider community to experience its newest performance, Celtic Treasures in only one public matinee at 11.00am on Saturday April 5.

The performance art of eurythmy is uniquely suited to bring the colorful, shape-shifting elemental world of the Celtic peoples vividly to life. The 45-minute program features music and texts filled with color, light, and ever-changing movement!

Like last year's program, Farmyard Fables, the 4th-Year students of the SCE Training program join members of the SCE Ensemble to create this lively program, the heart of which is the story of The Faerie's Gift in a version by Tanya Batt. The Nomad performance also features a brief cameo appearance by cellist Andr a Moreno-Beals of Breathe Owl Breathe.

Further information about the tour, which includes stops in Denver, Ft Collins, Wheatridge, Colorado Springs, Carbondale, and Grand Junction, can be found on the Calendar at www.soundcircleeurythmy.org

Tickets: $8.00; Children, Students, and Seniors; $5.00

For reservations please contact idaducilli@me.com or call 303 484-5559. Your tickets will then be held until 10.45, with payment expected at the door.

CrossFit Wash Park to Offer Teen CrossFit Class for Waldorf Students & Friends

CrossFit Wash Park, DWS Senior Jake Smith's training home, would like to form a twice weekly teen CrossFit class for Waldorf students and their friends. We are aiming to run classes for anyone between 14-18 years old on Tuesdays and Fridays at 4pm for the rest of the school year. The cost for these 18, 1-hour classes would be $180. Initially I'm trying to gauge interest, as we need a minimum of 5 participants to begin the classes, so please contact me by Tuesday, April 8th.

CrossFit combines weightlifting, gymnastic, and endurance activities into short high-intensity workouts, but more specifically, at CFWP we believe it is a phenomenal way to help people develop safe and efficient functional movement patterns that will aid them in any physical arena (sports, hobbies, or just day to day living) as well as improve long term health. In addition, we believe the demanding challenges we present our athletes on a daily basis provide great benefits for the mental side: improved willingness to take on hard tasks, improved confidence/self-esteem, and a sense of accomplishment. No prior fitness/athletic level is required, as every workout is personally tailored to meet the needs or limitations of each athlete.

My wife Kristina and I founded and have owned CrossFit Wash Park since April of 2012, and I have been the head coach for the duration. In addition to owning the gym, we send our two children to Waldorf (Addy is in Woodrose and Aidan is in Starflower), and we think CrossFit as a strength and conditioning program fits the Waldorf idea of honing the mind and body through movement.

I'm shouting,

I'm singing,

I'm swinging through trees,

I'm winging sky-high with the buzzing black bees

I'm the sun,

I'm the moon,

I'm the dew on the rose,

I'm a rabbit whose habit is twitching his nose...

An excerpt from the poem "Spring" by Karin Kuskin

Under the Blue Spruce Childcare is a licensed in-home childcare located in the beautiful Platt Park neighborhood of Denver very near the Light Rail and bus lines.

Platt Park and the Old South Pearl Street businesses are just a few blocks away. Grant Middle School and McKinley Thatcher Elementary School are in easy walking distance.

We spend a lot of time outdoors discovering what nature can teach us in all four seasons. Our stories and songs reflect these joys in life.

As in nature, there is a strong daily rhythm in our day. We begin each day with free play which includes book time and breakfast if needed. Story time is next with songs and often puppet plays. Then we are out for a walk to the park or an adventure in the neighborhood. A nutritious hot lunch and rest time follows. Later afternoons may bring play time in the backyard with nice weather.

Our crafts are simple, but creative. We make our own music and games throughout the day. We delight in our world through imaginative play!

Illustrations by Mary Morgan

We are open year-round,
Monday through Friday 7:00 am to 5:00 pm.

Children ages 12 months and older are welcome.
